After the 2.3 Lesson: John McEnroe – Bad Boy of Tennis, I like to show the three video clips. I started with his most famous outburst (Up to 38 seconds shows him yelling and if you watch until 1:37, you can see his tantrum, nothing much happens after 1:37), and then his “you can’t be serious.” (38 seconds) At this point, I explain that his behavior was so well known in and out of the world of tennis, that a parody of his antics was made into a car commercial and show the third clip (57 seconds).

After the 2.4 Lesson: Michael Jordan – His “Airness,” I like to show the next two video clips. First is Michael’s Nike “Failure” commercial (30 seconds). Finally, I show the Famous Failures video (2:58) to show all the different people who were labeled “failures” but chose to embrace a growth mindset, kept working, and become successful.

I haven’t done Lesson 2.1 with a reading, instead, I use a video of babies walking and ask, “Do you realize that you have mastered two of the most difficult tasks of your lifetime before your third birthday.” This is the opening from Lesson 2.1. The video is 2:36 and can be shown as needed.
